Modern Day Slavery: When we think of slavery, it's usually of the trade in Black Slaves from Africa to America hundreds of years ago. But, recent survey gave an estimate of modern day slaves throughout the world in tens of millions. The same survey has 13,000 people living in conditions of slavery here in England, now. What can we do? Our Diocesan Faith & Justice Communion is hosting a talk on how the Church can respond on 19th June at 7.30pm in The Cornerstone, Sulyard Street, Lancaster LA1 1PX, given by Rachel Jobs, Regional Development Officer for "Hope for Justice". The Call to Holiness: Martin Bennett, who has given scriptural talks in our parish in the recent past, will be talking on Pope Francis' "Gaudete et Exsultate" at English Martyrs on Friday June 15th, (7:00pm). The working title is 'The call to holiness - who, me?' and he'll be exploring how the Pope's Exhortation challenges our common understanding of holiness and offers a more alive and integrated understanding, calling each of us to a fulfilling and joyful holiness in our daily lives. Martin has been particularly taken with his thread that being flawed and imperfect isn't a bar to holiness, but settling for mediocrity is.

Jesus, Image of the Unseen God: Prayer, reflection and discussion with Stephen Hoyland on Saturday 30th June 2018, 10.00am - 3.00pm at The Friends Meeting House, Meeting House Lane, Lancaster LA1 1TX. Bring a packed lunch. Tea and coffee are provided. Parking at the Railway Station. To book please email anne.foley@blueyonder.co.uk or phone 01772 555483.

National Eucharistic Congress 7-9 September: As you know, we are sending two Eucharistic Ministers, Maria Stansfield and Rita Murphy as our parish Reps to the above event at the Liverpool Echo Arena. Not everyone will be able to have seats for the Arena, but there will be many great events on Saturday 8th September which are free and open to all. These will take place in all the churches and venues around the city centre. There will be exhibitions on archived history of church in this country during penal and more recent times, and another on Eucharistic miracles. Also, a chance to hear Jimmy McGovern explain how he came to write the series 'Broken' and what he based the script on, a 'Nightfever'. There'll be a drop-in for young adults, and lots of workshops talks and events as well as opportunities for prayer and adoration. All of these will provide opportunities for all ages to be involved in what will be the most significant gathering of the church in this country in recent times, to celebrate and reflect and pray together. The programme will be available soon.

I think it will be a great opportunity for a parish day out, and am very happy to take the minibus. If you'd like to go, please put your name on the list at the back of church.
